LBJ, Kosygin To Talk Again Sunday

GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — American diplomats mixed optimism with caution today over prospects that two summit meetings at Glassboro will open the way toward solving major international issues. The fact that President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin met for five hours Friday, including three hours with no aides except interpreters—then agreed on another parley Sunday—was in itself regarded as a good omen.

Announcement of the follow-up session Sunday afternoon came as a surprise to the array of experts who figured the Friday meeting could only be a token one at best, considering how much difficulty the chiefs had all week over whether or where to get together.

As it turned out their first session at Hollybush, the brownstone residence of the Glassboro State College president, began with a handshake and ended with Johnson and Kosygin smilingly facing newsmen and a cheering crowd.

Kosygin concurred with Johnson's statement that their talks ranged over such issues as the Middle East crisis and Vietnam and that "we agreed it is now very important to reach international agreement on a non-proliferation treaty."

Presidential press secretary George Christian said the two leaders developed an understanding on the central question in the Middle East dispute—that "Israel does, of course, exist as a nation"—although they disagreed on other points.

Christian said Johnson hopes for a consensus on the other Middle East issues. He also reported that Secretary of State Dean Rusk, assigned to meet next week with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, is optimistic about chances for U.S.-Soviet concurrence on the draft of a proposed treaty to bar the spread of nuclear weapons.

The two private meetings by the chiefs plus the business lunch attended by their top advisers at the tree-shaded campus site Friday produced a sudden improvement in the tone of U.S.-Soviet relations.

Johnson declared that he and Kosygin had agreed they both want "a world of peace for our grandchildren."

But the President added a note of caution that "deep and serious differences" remain. "One meeting does not make a peace," he said.

"We reached no new agreements—that does not happen in a single conversation—but I think we understand each other better," he said.

Moscow radio carried only a brief comment for Russian listeners. It simply said that the two leaders met "in Glassboro, N.J., near New York" and that planning "a great conspiracy on a worldwide basis."

While Kosygin ostensibly went to the United States for the U.N. session, Red China declared, the Soviet premier's real purpose was to "confer secretly with Johnson on criminally selling the rights of the revolution of Vietnamese people, Arabs, as well as Asian, African and Latin-American peoples to U.S. imperialists."

Saudi Arabia's ambassador to the United Nations, Jamil M. Barrody, seemed little impressed with the Big Two summit, no matter what the outcome.

"If they agree or don't agree," the Arab diplomat said, "there will be no solution if it is not a solution that satisfies the Arab world."

Elsewhere at the United Nations the reaction to the news from Glassboro was generally favorable.

Diplomats took the continuation of the talks as an encouraging sign. They speculated that at least one concrete result might be agreement by the two nuclear superpowers on the proposed pact to outlaw the spread of atomic arms.

Rusk and Gromyko are expected to try to complete wording on a treaty draft to present to the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

Glassboro was spending the day cleaning up after the first flood of visitors and bracing for the second.

Reds Kill 76 U.S. Troops In Viet Trap

SAIGON (AP) — An American infantry company on a search-and-destroy mission was caught in a deadly crossfire of North Vietnamese automatic weapons and small arms and lost 76 killed and 24 wounded high in the central highlands, the U.S. Command disclosed today.

The bloody action near Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, took place Thursday, the command said, but the news was held up for "security reasons."

The badly mauled company of perhaps 150 men was part of the 173rd Airborne Brigade, the first Army combat unit to arrive in Vietnam, in May 1965. The company included many newcomers sent in as replacements for men rotated out of South Vietnam. It had been looking for the enemy since last Sunday but had had no contact until the surprise Red assault Thursday.

The company's two lead platoons apparently were sucked into a trap and isolated halfway up a heavily forested 4,000-foot ridgeline. The North Vietnamese attackers reportedly wore black berets, indicating they were elite troops.

The two platoons, totaling about 80 men, apparently became confused and disorganized. About 75 of these men were found dead on the battlefield, the others wounded, spokesmen said.

The heavy fighting raged for seven hours.

Two other companies maneuvered to reinforce the embattled and battered unit. The 59 men accounted for at the time the reinforcements linked up were evacuated to the base camp at Dak To.

Fighting was reportedly so close that air strikes on the Communists had to be greatly limited; even so, fighter-bombers flew what tactical strikes they could and armed helicopters were pressed into action.

Early today B52 bombers, each of which carries 60,000 pounds of bombs, blasted the area where the airborne troops took a beating Thursday.

Troopers sweeping over the area Friday reported skirmishes with small groups of North Vietnamese troops. They said they found 75 Communist bunkers, more than half of them spattered with fresh blood.

U.S. headquarters said no significant fighting had been reported since midnight Friday.

Censured By Colleagues

Dodd Plans Bid For Third Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, censured by his colleagues for personal use of campaign funds, vows to serve out his current term and seek vindication from Connecticut voters by running for a third term.

"I will be here tomorrow," the white-haired Connecticut Democrat told the Senate after it passed judgment on him Friday. "I will be here every day, doing my work as best as I can do it. Senators need not worry about me running away."

Dodd told newsmen he had not planned to run for a third term in 1970 and had promised his wife he would not. But now, he said, "Everything's changed. I've got to."

The Senate rendered its decision on the ninth day of debate, climaxing an agonizing period for the 60-year-old Dodd and his fellow senators.

He became the sixth senator in the nation's history to have his conduct censured or condemned by his peers.

The Senate, by a 92-5 vote, upheld a finding of its ethics committee that Dodd converted to his personal benefit at least $116,083 in campaign and testimony funds.

But two hours later it voted 51 to 45 to drop the bipartisan committee's second charge—that Dodd double-billed the Senate and private groups for the same travel expenses.

Dodd earlier said this second count was the one that "gnawed at my heart" the most. If he had practiced fraud against the government, he said, he should be expelled.

Dodd was the second member of Congress this year to be punished for financial misconduct. Earlier the House refused to seat Adam Clayton Powell, a Harlem Democrat, on grounds he misused government funds and was contemptuous toward a House committee and New York courts.

For Dodd, the punishment of censure will be whatever hurt it does to him and his career. It does not deprive him of any of his rights and privileges as a senator, nor will it take away his chairmanship of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee.

He said during the debate he would rather be dead than dishonored.

But after the final vote was taken Friday he rose from his seat and, looking about at his colleagues, said he would continue to serve.

"I think the only reason I can

FBI Agents Strive To Link Grocer To 'Commuter' Thefts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A quiet, amiable grocer, arrested by the FBI at his small store, is charged with a 1963 armed robbery that netted $9,000 from a downtown Pittsburgh bank.

FBI agents say they believe grocer William E. Zeiler, 52, may be the "commuter bandit," an elusive gunman who has been blamed for 16 area bank robberies since 1961.

"Sure," said one agent of Zeiler, "he's only been charged with one robbery. But we're going to continue our investigation. We think he's our man."

Zeiler, father of four, was arrested Friday at his store, Bill's Market, located in a rundown, predominantly Negro section of Pittsburgh's North Side.

The burly grocer, who faces a hearing Monday, says he is not the commuter bandit—that it's all a mistake. At his arraignment, he told U.S. Commissioner Alex McNaugher he could not post $50,000 bond.

"I don't know anyone with that kind of money," he said. He said he could not afford to hire an attorney. "I'm barely making ends meet in the store to keep my family," he said.

Police said Zeiler was surprised when arrested and offered no resistance. They said his fingerprints match those found on the getaway car used in the Sept. 23, 1963, holdup.

Witnesses have said the commuter bandit calmly enters a bank, shoves a note and a paper bag to a teller, then casually leaves.

On several occasions, hidden cameras have recorded the bandit walking unnoticed past bank customers, a bag stuffed with money in one hand and a gun in the other.

FBI Probe Asked

Sabotage Hinted In Plane Wreck

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The president of Mohawk Airlines has asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to investigate a "strong suggestion of sabotage" in the crash of a jetliner Friday that killed 34 persons near here.

In a telegram to Hoover Friday night, Robert E. Peach, Mohawk president, said "evidence has developed in course of notification of next of kin of crash victims which leads to strong suggestion of sabotage."

He did not give any details of the evidence.

The plane — a BAC111 on Flight 40 bound from Syracuse, N.Y., to Washington, D.C. — plunged in a ball of flames onto Bloomsburg Mountain in north-central Pennsylvania at 2:50 p.m., shortly after it took off from an overcast from Elmira, N.Y.

Witnesses said the wreckage was scattered over a wide area and that nearly all the bodies were mutilated and dismembered.

"I was in World War II and I never saw anything like that," said Raymond Smith, 48, who visited the scene.

Before Peach sent his telegram, a Mohawk spokesman said the FBI was routinely investigating any possibility of sabotage. FBI agents also were sent to the scene to help identify victims, and the National Transportation Safety Board, a newly established unit in the Department of Transportation, sent investigators.

Former Maine Gov. John H. Reed, a member of the board, said Friday night the airplane's flight recorder tape had been found, intact and readable. He said the tape is solid — not garbage — and there is apparently no need to drain the pool.

Meanwhile, an estimated 1,000 young people and adults hoping to beat today's heat with a cool dip, will have to wait until Monday at least for a swim in the town of 1,556, about 30 miles south of Corning, N.Y., said they could tell the airliner was in trouble as it flew over.

"It sounded like the engine kept cutting out," one man said.

Bloomsburg postmaster Louis Schultz said he saw the plane's left wing on fire and pieces of debris falling off.

"It was making a noise like a whistle," he said. "It was just like a toy going down — going down sideways."

Schultz later visited the crash scene and said the fuselage was gone, "just as if someone had

Kosygin Pays Brief Visit To Niagara Falls

49 Are In Party; Premier Receives Key To The City

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, flying in a U.S. Air Force jetliner, landed at Niagara Falls at 10:08 a.m. today for a whirlwind look at the American and Canadian falls.

A majority of the crowd estimated at 1,600 at the airport applauded as he left the plane. Kosygin waved once and smiled.

He was greeted by Mayor E. Dent Lackey, who presented him with a gold key to the city, which the mayor said was worth $7. He also gave Kosygin a silver coin marking the 75th anniversary of the incorporation of Niagara Falls.

Kosygin and his party then headed by motorcade toward the cataracts.

The party took off in a Boeing 707 jet from Kennedy Airport at 9:06 a.m. for the Niagara Falls Municipal Airport.

He was accompanied by his daughter, Ludmila, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

There were 49 persons in the party, including State Department personnel, Secret Service men and diplomats.

Firefighting Service Slated For Township

SALEM, Ohio (AP) — Salem Fire Chief Martin Carlos announced that firefighting services for the 3,100 residents of nearby Perry Township would be resumed after four firemen showed up for duty Friday.

Martin Carlos said if the waters are clear and approved by firemen, the pool will re-open Monday. He said the trash is solid — not garbage — and there is apparently no need to drain the pool.

Glassboro, a small town near Philadelphia, is about halfway between New York and Washington—which is how it came to be the compromise site in the dispute between Johnson and Kosygin over who should come to whom.

The Moscow version omitted Christian's statement that the second Glassboro conference Sunday had been suggested by Kosygin.

Radio Peking lost no time in accusing both powers of directly

Vandalism at the Midland Veterans Swimming Pool has forced closing of the pool over the weekend for a health department check of the facility.

Trash-cans, boxes and glass

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Johnson says he reached no new agreements with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin but "he and I agreed that we wanted a world of peace for our grandchildren."

The President reported on his historic summit meeting in a speech to a $500-a-plate Democratic party fund-raising affair Friday night, just a few hours after he left Kosygin at Glassboro, N.J.

"It is good to sit down and look a man in the eye and try to reason with him and to have him reason with you," Johnson said. "Reasoning together was the spirit of Hollybush."

That was the name of the house in which Johnson and Kosygin met.

Johnson said he and the premier discussed the Middle East, Southeast Asia, the possibility of new agreements in the arms race, and "the need for a common action on constructive initiatives for peace."

Johnson said agreements do not come "in a single conversation, but I think we understand each other better, and I was able to make it very clear indeed that the strength and determination of your country and its government are fully matched by Delmore Bailey of Columbiana was elected president when the Columbiana Council of Boy Scouts of America met Thursday at St. George's parish hall in Lisbon.

Others named are Richard Emmerling of East Liverpool and George Bowman of Salem, vice presidents; Eugene Hall of East Liverpool, council commissioner; William Hailey of Lisbon, treasurer; Howard Firestone of Salem, Emory Miller of East Palestine and John C. Thompson of East Liverpool, national council representatives; James Gibbs of Salem, Shawnee district chairman; and William Pomeroy of East Liverpool, Cherokee district chairman.

The resignation of William Rayburn, camping and activities chairman, was accepted. He will be replaced by Fred Lehr of East Liverpool.

W. Kenneth Mugridge of Lisbon was recognized for his work as district executive in the Shawnee District the last eight years. Mugridge is retiring from scouting to accept a position as coordinator of volunteers with the Laurelton, Pa., State School and Hospital.

Reports were given by Walter F. Deming council finance chairman, on the capital fund campaign; William Pomeroy Jr., Cherokee District chairman, who said there will be four new units added to the district within the next month, and James Gibbs, Shawnee District chairman, who said the district has five new units and is just six Scouts less than the year's

SUMMER
SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, summer with its sunshines and showers, is just about the most critical time of the year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro-organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the summer season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY ? ? ?
The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occur, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help
The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 50,000,000 anaerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce) and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to the adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

Dodd

do that, however," Dodd added quietly, "is because in my heart I do not have any feeling of wrongdoing. If I did, I do not think I would show up here again."

He said he felt no bitterness toward any of the senators, adding he did not think they intended any injustice to him.

But he said, "I think a grave mistake has been made, and I am the one who must bear the scar of that mistake for the rest of my life."

He thanked Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and others who had helped him and said that "without the wonderful support of my wife, who is sitting in the gallery, I do not think I could have carried on these 18 months." Mrs. Dodd occupied a front-row gallery seat throughout the prolonged debate.

"I love the Senate, and I like all its members," Dodd said. "I hope my honor is not diminished in your sight. I hope to be able to work among you as long as the people of my state permit me to do so. Thus I bid you farewell for today, and thank you for your kindness."

With that he strode from the Senate chamber.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the ethics panel said after the vote, "There is no victory here for anyone, and no victory against anyone."

Adoption of the censure resolution marks "a new start for the Senate," Stennis said. "I hope it is a new start for Sen. Dodd," who, he said, "is really liked by all of us."

He renewed a promise that the committee will move as quickly as possible to draft code of conduct for the Senate's approval.

This was the first such case since 1954, when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., was condemned by a 67-22 vote for abuse of two Senate committees that investigated his financial and official conduct.

Democrats voted solidly to condemn McCarthy, but Republicans split evenly, 22 to 22.

There was no similar division along party lines in the 92-5 vote to censure Dodd for personal use of political funds.

Aside from Dodd himself, the senators voting against censure were two Democrats, Long of Louisiana and Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, and two Republicans, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and John Tower of Texas.

Sens. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., and Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, were absent because of illness and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-La., was excused on undisclosed business.

The amendment to strike the double-billing charge from the censure resolution was offered by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. He said it hadn't been shown Dodd intended to defraud the government.

Voting for Ellender's amendment were 35 Democrats and 16 Republicans, while 25 Democrats and 20 Republicans dissented.

Both party leaders, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., voted to sustain the double-billing charge.

"He don't bother nobody," said one.

stuck some dynamite in the center and blew it to pieces."

Witnesses said the plane came down on a flat area of the mountain top.

A temporary morgue was established in the Blosburg fire hall, but some observers said identification would be an "almost impossible job." In addition to the FBI crew, pathologists and dentists were called to aid in identification.

The pilot was identified as Capt. Charles Bullock, 44, of Cazenovia, N.Y., who had been with Mohawk nearly 15 years.

Democratic leaders in California were happy with the President's visit, his first political stop in the nation's most populous state since his 1964 campaign.

The dinner raised some $500,000 for the President's Club, a Democratic party organization of $1,000 donors.

Johnson said the party now has paid off a $4 million debt.

The President joked about some troubles of feuding California Democrats. He told of a mythical film in which California's Democratic leaders are talking in a smoke-filled room.

To reduce the budget for this scene, there is no sound track," Johnson said.

"But that doesn't detract from the movie—because nobody was talking to each other any way."

Johnson referred to last year's election of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, saying, "The world has been told so often that a successful politician has to be something of an actor—and California has proved it."

New Officers Are Named
By County Scout Council

Delmore Bailey of Columbiana was elected president when the Columbiana Council of Boy Scouts of America met Thursday at St. George's parish hall in Lisbon.

Others named are Richard Emmerling of East Liverpool and George Bowman of Salem, vice presidents; Eugene Hall of East Liverpool, council commissioner; William Hailey of Lisbon, treasurer; Howard Firestone of Salem, Emory Miller of East Palestine and John C. Thompson of East Liverpool, national council representatives; James Gibbs of Salem, Shawnee district chairman; and William Pomeroy of East Liverpool, Cherokee district chairman.

The resignation of William Rayburn, camping and activities chairman, was accepted. He will be replaced by Fred Lehrs of East Liverpool.

W. Kenneth Mugridge of Lisbon was recognized for his work as district executive in the Shawnee District the last eight years. Mugridge is retiring from scouting to accept a position as coordinator of volunteers with the Laurelton, Pa., State School and Hospital.

Reports were given by Walter F. Deming council finance chairman, on the capital fund campaign; William Pomeroy Jr., Cherokee District chairman, who said there will be four new units added to the district within the next month, and James Gibbs, Shawnee District chairman, who said the district has five new units and is just six Scouting less than a year's

SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, summer with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of the year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro-organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the summer season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY ???

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

Tyler claimed he shot Frey after Frey attacked him with a screw driver.

Engineers Okay
5-Year Contract

CLEVELAND (AP)—A five-year contract providing an hourly increase of $2.80 in wages and fringes has been approved by members of statewide Local 18 of the Operating Engineers.

Frank Possehl, business manager of the local, said the operating engineers voted 5,491 in favor and 1,456 against the contract for official settlement of the strike that started May 3. The workers, operators of hoisting equipment and heavy construction equipment, returned to their jobs June 14 in anticipation of the mailed vote, he said.

Operating engineers made $4.97 an hour plus 34 cents in fringe benefits under the old contract. By May 1, 1972, they will make $7.67 an hour with an additional 10 cents in fringes.

Patrol Lists Four District Car Mishaps

Three cars and the steps of a tavern along Park Way were damaged in one of four district road accidents investigated by the Highway Patrol at Lisbon early today and Friday.

Joseph W. D'Alessio, 20, of R.D. 3 was cited by the patrol for reckless operation after his car ran off Park Way in a mishap about 12:40 a.m. just north of Pennsylvania Ave. in the East End.

Officers said D'Alessio was headed north in a 1960 convertible when he lost control and the car veered off the highway and hit a parked car owned by Frederick Adams, 46, of 421 Prospect St., knocking it into parked pickup truck owned by Howard L. Neil Jr., 54, of 1310 Pennsylvania Ave. in the East End.

The truck was shoved into the steps of the Park Way Tavern, officers said.

Ralph Maze, 16, of R.D. 2 was cited for reckless operation after his 1954 sedan wrecked on the Smith Ferry - Calcutta Rd. a mile east of Calcutta at 11:55 p.m.

The patrol said Maze was headed east, swerved off the road on a curve and went up over an embankment. The car continued on, hit a mail box, came back onto the highway then overturned.

No one was injured in a mishap on St. Clair Ave. Ext. a third of a mile south of Calcutta.

A tire in a carrier on a truck driven by Alan J. Dubberly, 16, of R.D. 3 fell onto the highway, and bounced into the path of a 1967 coach driven by Virgil H. Ludwig, 49, of 1856 Smithfield St.

The tire caused moderate damage to the left front of the auto, officers said.

No one was injured in a collision on Dresden Ave. Ext. at the intersection with Route 170 at 6 p.m.

William Foden, 71, of 1038 Waterloo St., driving a compact, and Kenneth Gorius, 19, of Coraopolis, operating a 1958 station wagon, halted for a stop sign at the intersection.

Gorius then accelerated, his car hitting the rear of Foden's.

Who Can Tell?

Various Awards Made At Nurses' Graduation

Presentation of awards highlighted the 56th annual commencement of the East Liverpool City Hospital Training School for Nurses Friday night at the First Church of Christ.

Some 300 were present.

Mrs. Darla Coulter Wilson received recognition as valedictorian and Miss Colleen Rae Gochenour as salutatorian, with Dr. John A. Fraser making the presentations on behalf of the Lions Club.

The Albert McLain award for excellence in maternity nursing went to Miss Susan Kay Wines.

Awards for excellence went to Miss Martha Mary Macejko, for bedside nursing, and to Miss Ruth Virginia Possage and Mrs. Loretta Margaret Kershner Newbury, for surgical nursing.

The best all-around nurse awards were won by Miss Coulter, Miss Gochenour and Miss Lynn Kaye Price.

The awarding of diplomas and honors to the 17 students was directed by Mrs. E. Wilmot Tobin chairman.

Delegates' Reports Given For Women's Association

Synodical reports were heard during the meeting of the Women's Association of the Longs Run United Presbyterian Church Tuesday night in the sanctuary.

Delegates reporting were Mrs. Betty Holden who spoke on the missionary workshops and Mrs. Harriet Entrikin who talked on the Bible study.

Miss Della Ingles and Mrs. Jo Ann Fisher, who also attended, answered questions during the discussion period. They were introduced by Mrs. Lois Myers, program chairman.

Devotions were conducted by Miss Ingles who used the theme "Decisions in Obedience."

Mrs. Ruth Dunn, president, conducted business. Reports were given by Mrs. Entrikin, secretary, and Mrs. Jackie Fisher, treasurer.

The fellowship chairman, Mrs. Barbara Dray, announced 18 new tea towels were taken to Beaver Creek Camp.

Thank-you notes from graduates who received Bibles were read by Miss Ingles. Mrs. Dorothy Greenwood reported on prayer calls.

Sewing projects will be completed at a session July 20 with Mrs. Margie Jacobs of Route 170. Members are to bring a sack lunch.

All the church circles will hold a covered picnic July 12 at Echo Dell Park. The program will include reports from Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Mary Eleanor Thompson who will attend the Triennial National Meeting June 26 - July 1 at Purdue University.

The Beaver Creek Prayer Retreat will be held Aug. 21-22. Refreshments were served to 35 by the Naomi Ruth Circle with Mrs. Peggy Barker, chairman. The floral decorations and yellow and white tapers were arranged by Mrs. Beulah Holden. Miss Ingles and Mrs. Greenwood poured at the silver services. Mrs. Jackie Fisher offered the blessing.

The next session will be Sept. 12 at the church with the Mary Anna Circle in charge of refreshments and the Naomi Ruth Circle presenting the program.

Chester Residents May Obtain Licenses

Chester residents will be able to purchase city driver's licenses and general licenses for business during the day and in the evenings for the next two weeks, according to City Clerk Donald Hoad.

He said there will be someone on duty to sell the items from 9 to 5 each day and from 6:30 until 9 at night.

The new licenses will go into effect July 1.

Bettis Defeated In GOP's Voting

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Conservatives cemented their control over the Young Republican National Federation for another two years Friday by electing Jack McDonald of Nashville, Tenn., as chairman of the organization.

McDonald, who succeeds Tom Van Sickle of Fort Scott, Kan., defeated Jim Bettis of Rocky River, Ohio, a party moderate, and Ray Cooper of Little Rock, Ark., backed by GOP Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of that state.

The roll call vote was: McDonald 425; Bettis 184; and Cooper 13.

The conservatives so-called "syndicate" which put McDonald in office already has demonstrated its political muscle by slapping down a series of proposals to strengthen control over their organization by GOP National Chairman Ray Bliss.

The first steamship to cross the Atlantic Ocean was "The Savannah," which sailed from Savannah, Ga., about May 22, 1819, and docked in Liverpool, England, on June 20, 1819. The ship was driven by steam for a total of between 80 and 105 hours. Sails were used for the rest of the time.

Patrol Lists Four District Car Mishaps

Three cars and the steps of a tavern along Park Way were damaged in one of four district road accidents investigated by the Highway Patrol at Lisbon early today and Friday.

Joseph W. D'Alessio, 20, of R.D. 3 was cited by the patrol for reckless operation after his car ran off Park Way in a mishap about 12:40 a.m. just north of Pennsylvania Ave. in the East End.

Officers said D'Alessio was headed north in a 1960 convertible when he lost control and the car veered off the highway and hit a parked car owned by Frederick Adams, 46, of 421 Prospect St., knocking it into parked pickup truck owned by Howard L. Neil Jr., 54, of 1310 Pennsylvania Ave.

The truck was shoved into the steps of the Park Way Tavern, officers said.

Ralph Maze, 16, of R.D. 2 was cited for reckless operation after his 1954 sedan wrecked on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. a mile east of Calcutta at 11:55 p.m.

The patrol said Maze was headed east, swerved off the road on a curve and went up over an embankment. The car continued on, hit a mail box, came back onto the highway then overturned.

No one was injured in a mishap on St. Clair Ave. Ext. a third of a mile south of Calcutta.

A tire in a carrier on a truck driven by Alan J. Dubberly, 16, of R.D. 3 fell onto the highway and bounced into the path of a 1967 coach driven by Virgil H. Ludwig, 49, of 1856 Smithfield St.

The tire caused moderate damage to the left front of the auto, officers said.

No one was injured in a collision on Dresden Ave. Ext. at the intersection with Route 170 at 6 p.m.

William Foden, 71, of 1038 Waterloo St., driving a compact, and Kenneth Gorius, 19, of Coraopolis, operating a 1958 station wagon, halted for a stop sign at the intersection.

Gorius then accelerated, his car hitting the rear of Foden's.

Second row, Miss Ruth Virginia Posse, Miss Martha Mary Maceko and Mrs. Loretta Kershner Newbury.

Various Awards Made At Nurses' Graduation

Presentation of awards highlighted the 56th annual commencement of the East Liverpool City Hospital Training School for Nurses Friday night at the First Church of Christ.

Some 300 were present.

Mrs. Darla Coulter Wilson received recognition as valedictorian and Miss Colleen Rae Gochenour as salutatorian, with Dr. John A. Fraser making the presentations on behalf of the Lions Club.

The Albert McLain award for excellence in maternity nursing went to Miss Susan Kay Wines.

Awards for excellence went to Miss Martha Mary Maceko, for bedside nursing, and to Miss Ruth Virginia Posse and Mrs. Loretta Margaret Kershner Newbury, for surgical nursing.

The best all-around nurse awards were won by Miss Coulter, Miss Gochenour and Miss Lynn Kaye Price.

The awarding of diplomas and honors to the 17 students was directed by Mrs. E. Wilmot

Lodges Plan Awards Fete

A joint "Veterans Night" program will be held by Pennova IOOF Lodge 880 and the Ohio City Rebekah Lodge 782 Friday night at the East End lodge room of 1172 Pennsylvania Ave.

Jewel pins will be presented to 35 Rebekahs who have belonged to the lodge 20 years or more.

Pins will be given to 23 members of the IOOF lodge who have belonged 25 years or more.

Charles Brown of Wheeling and Lyman Earle of Cleveland have belonged to the lodge 60 years, and Harold Goodballet of W. 8th St. has belonged 55 years.

Charles Black of Cambridge, grand master of Ohio, and Mrs. Lillian Hannah of Smithfield, assembly vice president, will award the pins.

A cordial dinner will be served at 6 p.m.

Staff nurses at City Hospital served as ushers.

A reception followed in the social room under the supervision of the Women's Auxiliary of City Hospital, with Mrs. Lou

Abortion Taboos Fall Away

The bill to liberalize Ohio's abortion law has been given a boost by the American Medical Association's reversal of its firm opposition policy.

The AMA's House of Delegates has adopted a policy broadening its acceptance of reasons for abortions.

The organization says it would favor abortions in cases where medical evidence shows continuance of pregnancy may threaten the health of the mother; or where pregnancy through rape or incest constitutes a threat to the mental or physical health of the patient; or where infants would be born with an incapacitating physical deformity or mental deficiency.

The bill sponsored by the Ohio House Health and Welfare Committee fits within the AMA's guidelines.

The taboo armor is falling away from the subject of abortion all across the nation. Three states, North Carolina, California and Colorado, have passed laws based on principles outlined by the AMA. Another 20 states have bills pending.

One of the first chinks in the armor came in 1959 when the Model Penal Code of the American Law Institute, a product of a 10-year endeavor by leading jurisprudence and criminology authorities, recommended legalizing of abortion in specific cases.

The model code was devised as a major

New York State lottery tickets are selling at about half the rate they were supposed to hit if the lottery raised all the money it was supposed to raise for educational needs.

This had been the experience previously in New Hampshire, whose lottery for the benefit of education never has come more than half-way to the high expectations held out for it.

A pattern is beginning to emerge from lottery experiences like these.

The pattern indicates that politicians may be turning education lobbies into settling for lotteries instead of tax revenue.

The psychology of this ploy would be to take advantage of the education lobby's inordinate demands to make it settle for what is supposed to be an inordinate passion for gambling.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I would like to thank publicly the trustees, of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation, members of the awards committee and especially the officers, Ralph Finley, president; Theodore Taylor, program vice president; Jackman S. Vodrey, campaign vice president; Joe Coons, treasurer; and Mrs. Rebecca Turk, secretary.

So many people were involved in the campaign that was recently completed at the Awards Banquet at which 70 students received aid.

This was my first experience with the Scholarship Foundation and there was a lot more to it than I had realized. I assisted the treasurer this year and enjoyed the experience of working with the foundation immensely.

Each person that solicited door to door deserves a big thank you because I remember how it rained that day. Despite the weather they broke last year's record for collections.

Because I talked to each student individually at one time or another during the past year and got to know them fairly well and saw just how pleased they were for the assistance given them by CSF, I can say that it was most rewarding.

I would like to say thank you to each and every one who contributed to CSF, along with the great workers we had this year. If it weren't for the cooperation of the trustees, solicitors and the people of the seven school districts, we could not have Citizen Scholarship as successful as it is now.

I can say very sincerely, I hope that this will not be the last year that I can be of service to the Citizen Scholarship Foundation.

Abortion still is a highly controversial subject with major opposition coming from the Roman Catholic Church.

The AMA's policy-making body took special note of Catholic protest and issued a statement saying it respects their right of belief but feels representatives of beliefs have a right to act in their best interest, too.

In other words, those who feel abortion laws are offensive to their beliefs do not have to submit to abortions; but their belief should not impose restrictions on others not offended by the intent of the law.

Prevailing laws permit abortions only if pregnancy endangers the mother's life.

It is estimated one million illegal abortions are performed each year with about 5,000 ending in death.

Health of some of the surviving women is impaired and others are mentally distraught because of guilt feelings for acting outside the law.

The Ohio bill would permit legal abortions if the mother's physical or mental health may be endangered, if it is likely the baby will have serious mental or physical deformities or where pregnancy resulted from incest or rape.

The bill takes an objective position on a modern problem and extends the privilege of free choice to citizens of Ohio in the interest of their health and well-being.

The idea is to make the education lobby perform jiu jitsu on itself, then when it is let down hard politicians can say the public didn't support education.

The truth is that the public isn't going for gambling on the scale predicted by politicians who oversold a lottery.

New Hampshire and New York are selling lottery tickets at a good clip. But they are not selling them fast enough to wriggle out of responsibility for underwriting the fantastic cost of education.

From now on, educators who buy lotteries instead of demanding money straight from the state's general funds should be flunked in Practical Politics I.

had put up the barbed wire. Surely, no damage would have been done to those ancient stones by letting Midsummer Eve celebrants cut loose in their vicinity.

Those stones had seen everything in their thousands of years that men could think of to do. They had witnessed love and hatred, frenzy and fury, peace and war.

Whatever could occur in their presence in the 20th century would be nothing compared with what had happened there in times so far distant no one can guess within thousands of years how far back they would be.

We did not ask the attendants at Stonehenge if anything unusual happens there at the time of the winter solstice. Probably not. The Salisbury Plains, green and balmy in June, are bleak and forbidding in December.

Undoubtedly, celebrants prefer pubs for the December solstice. Britain makes a big thing of Christmas, which is the winter solstice under a religious title.

They never gave a name to the summer solstice, which is strange considering it could be and is in some places one of the high spots of the year.

A man accumulates a thousand things he would like to do if he had his life to live over. One of the things I regret not having done is to stay at Stonehenge Midsummer Eve.

On second thought, it might have been too much for me.

Those kids might have destroyed me.

Skittish Kosygin

By David Lawrence

Red Premier Plays A Role

Most people must have wondered why there should have been any hesitation on the part of Premier Kosygin to tell the public whether he would have a meeting with President Johnson.

But anyone who has followed the intricate processes of the Kremlin would know it was considered more important for Premier Kosygin to indicate almost up to the last minute of his visit that he was hostile to the United States and friendly to the Arabs than it was to reveal any plans for a conference with President Johnson.

Indeed, the buildup toward a meeting showed that officials of the American government were really taking the initiative and in effect begging for some occasion, social or otherwise, at which the heads of the two governments could get together.

Premier Kosygin did not say a word about his plans when he first arrived in the United States, but there came successively from the White House and the Capitol intimations that it would be a good thing if the Soviet Premier could have a talk with President Johnson.

THE WHITE HOUSE press secretary, for instance, said Tuesday the President would be glad to meet with the Soviet Premier "for a social visit or substantive discussions."

But not a word of comment came from Mr. Kosygin. Then the Democratic leader in the Senate, Mike Mansfield of Montana, made a further bid when he issued a public statement which was a supplementary form of invitation. He said:

"It is my hope that it will be possible for Premier Kosygin to accept the invitations which have been extended to him by President Johnson for a joint meeting. The meeting, in my opinion, would be better held outside the United Nations, where the question of protocol would have to be considered in view of the fact that many other prime ministers of other countries would be in attendance."

The foregoing was a polite way of hinting that Mr. Johnson could not go to New York because he would then have to meet with top officials of other governments, so it would be necessary to have the meeting somewhere else. Sen. Mansfield continued:

"It is the usual procedure for a visitor to a country to meet with the chief of state in the capital of that country. I am positive that in view of the invitations extended, the President would be more than willing to meet with Mr. Kosygin, should he desire it, either in Washington or at a place outside of Washington such as Camp David or some other place along the eastern seaboard."

BUT PREMIER Kosygin was in a tough spot. He was operating under instructions given him before he left Moscow by his colleagues in the Kremlin that he must not appear too anxious to meet with President Johnson or even to show he had anything important to say. In official Washington, nevertheless, failure to announce he was going to see the President caused an arching of eyebrows.

The premier himself, caught between the Kremlin injunction and his own desire to appear courteous, in accord with diplomatic custom, remained silent.

When news came, however, that President Johnson had become a grandfather, this lifted the matter out of official protocol. It permitted Mr. Kosygin to comment freely, since there was no likelihood the Arabs would misunderstand such a human observation as his statement to reporters when he was leaving the Soviet mission on Wednesday en route to the United Nations: "I congratulate him (President Johnson) on being a grandfather."

Reporters continued their queries and asked the premier if he was going to meet with the President. He replied that "it is not clear yet."

HE ADDED that he would like to leave the United States that same day, but didn't think he could. Doubtless he was still waiting for the Kremlin to give him word that en route home he could stop by and see the President in Washington, then fly to Moscow.

U.S. policy is to let the world know that the United States is ready to talk on the subject of peace anywhere and with anybody in a position of authority — friend or foe.

Premier Kosygin could have initiated a new era in the relations between the two countries. But apparently the strategy of the men in the Kremlin is still based on a belief that it isn't politically expedient for the Soviet premier to appear at this time to be too friendly or conciliatory with the United States government.

Those stones had seen everything in their thousands of years that men could think of to do. They had witnessed love and hatred, frenzy and fury, peace and war.

Whatever could occur in their presence in the 20th century would be nothing compared with what had happened there in times so far distant no one can guess within thousands of years how far back they would be.

We did not ask the attendants at Stonehenge if anything unusual happens there at the time of the winter solstice. Probably not. The Salisbury Plains, green and balmy in June, are bleak and forbidding in December.

Undoubtedly, celebrants prefer pubs for the December solstice. Britain makes a big thing of Christmas, which is the winter solstice under a religious title.

They never gave a name to the summer solstice, which is strange considering it could be and is in some places one of the high spots of the year.

A man accumulates a thousand things he would like to do if he had his life to live over. One of the things I regret not having done is to stay at Stonehenge Midsummer Eve.

On second thought, it might have been too much for me.

Those kids might have destroyed me.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I would like to thank publicly the trustees, of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation, members of the awards committee and especially the officers, Ralph Finley, president; Theodore Taylor, program vice president; Jackman S. Vodrey, campaign vice president; Joe Coons, treasurer; and Mrs. Rebecca Turk, secretary.

So many people were involved in the campaign that was recently completed at the Awards Banquet at which 70 students received aid.

This was my first experience with the Scholarship Foundation and there was a lot more to it than I had realized. I assisted the treasurer this year and enjoyed the experience of working with the foundation immensely.

Each person that solicited door to door deserves a big thank you because I remember how it rained that day. Despite the weather they broke last year's record for collections.

Because I talked to each student individually at one time or another during the past year and got to know them fairly well and saw just how pleased they were for the assistance given them by CSF, I can say that it was most rewarding.

I would like to say thank you to each and every one who contributed to CSF, along with the great workers we had this year. If it weren't for the cooperation of the trustees, solicitors and the people of the seven school districts, we could not have Citizen Scholarship as successful as it is now.

I can say very sincerely, I hope that this will not be the last year that I can be of service to the Citizen Scholarship Foundation.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

After all the controversy on the Columbiana County Home and the implication that the farm operation was left wanting, all of a sudden the man that was criticized for poor operation has suddenly become efficient enough that the county commissioners now feel that the farming operation can be deleted from the new exam for the superintendent's job.

I am very curious as to why I had to take the complete examination, farm section and all, yet in the new examination this is deleted. Are they this desperate to try to replace me, or just what justification do they give for removing part of the test?

Approximately 2½ months ago, I gave the commissioners a complete farm report in which we show a net profit of $15,000 from the farm. This report carried even the purchase order numbers that are on file at the county auditor's office. And I personally feel that we can prove every item listed in this report. This report covered the year 1966.

The public has been invited to the home to see what has been accomplished in the 20 months I have been here, a few groups have been interested enough to go through the home, but others haven't had time. The invitation is still open — any day of the week.

And, of course, there are those who probably haven't seen the home even once, but are definitely experts on everything that goes on here. These are the people that I would like to have come to the home and see for themselves. Of course most of these would refuse to come to the home for an inspection and the taste of crow — no one really enjoys.

We are proud of the care our patients have received, and to me, the farm even looks good. But, of course, you always have the certain few you can't please regardless.

This item is from one who is thoroughly sick of politics and their idea of what our older people need.

Labor Chiefs Use Pressure

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — There are labor leaders who constantly cry out for equal justice under the law—but who quietly claim the privilege of being more equal than others when the government cracks down on some of their own.

Then these union chiefs turn on the heat to quash criminal action. And no federal redoubt—not even the White House—escapes the pressure.

Having been scorched before by cases which became too hot to handle, the Justice Dept. has been moving swiftly in the matter of the mysterious whereabouts of over $100,000 which should belong to the ever-righteous International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) AFL-CIO.

Thus, during the weeklong mass conference of U.S. attorneys here the other day, David Satz, the regional federal attorney for New Jersey, was consulted by some of his colleagues in the Criminal Division. In effect, Mr. Satz was asked how swiftly his office could move against several IUE officials under Section 501 C, the embezzlement section of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act.

Involved was the 110,000-member IUE district 3 which deals with such vital production and defense corporations as I.T. & T., General Electric, Westinghouse, Sperry Rand, Bendix and RCA all the way from Camden, N.J., to Buffalo, N.Y.

Bluntly, the relatively new Justice Dept. chiefs want action and no time vacuum into which some labor men — who have made pristine purity a public passion — could rush with the campaign slogan of: "Let's clean our own house. Let's have no public scandal."

THE JUSTICE DEPT. officials are justified. On my desk, there is a set of confidential documents and letters exchanged by leaders of this 350,000-member union, still undisclosed, which prove that some of the IUE officials have started the heat wave.

This case is filled with James Bond stuff — missing documents, stolen files, threats of exposure, and secret agents and double agents.

The documents which were made available to this column, which for months has been warning of labor scandals about to break in the Jersey area, disclose that the special investigators of the Labor Dept.'s little known Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports, secretly began probing the powerful District last September.

Early in November, the section's agents served subpoenas on officials in the District's headquarters in East Rutherford, N.J. The government wanted all of the District's substantial records. The return date was Nov. 21. The District officials, according to the national IUE leaders here, informed no one of the investigation. Nor did they supply the records. When the federal men arrived they were told that the records had been stolen. The Labor Dept.'s investigatory headquarters then directed its squads to resurrect the District's financial operations.

The men went to banks, vendors, suppliers, etc. The records were skillfully worked up in a few months.

Meanwhile, on Dec. 12, the Labor Dept. conferred with the IUE's "new" and "young" president Paul Jennings, who succeeded the volatile Jim Carey more than two years ago. Jennings and his counsel, Irving Abramson, agreed to cooperate with the Labor Dept.'s enforcement division.

THEN HE FIRED his executive assistant and erstwhile campaign manager, Al Lowenthal, who believed that the whole matter should have been hushed up and kept out of the press — and that the union should cleanse itself. Copies of private communications he dispatched to Jennings, and conversations with intimates reveal that he had attempted to bring together Paul Jennings and Milton Wehrauch, president of the suspect District.

It was Lowenthal's strategy to have them go to AFL-CIO president George Meany and pressure this leader of 14 million unionists into pressuring the Labor Dept. into abandoning the investigation. And, if this failed, to go even higher. Jennings retorted, in his own communication, that this was futile since the District's records had been stolen and no case could be made with Meany.

Then in one confidential letter dated as recently as May 27, Lowenthal told Jennings that if there were to be scandals exposed on one level, there were scandals and unethical conduct which could be exposed on all levels.

"... This needs to be mentioned," says Lowenthal, "so that the sport of throwing rocks might not be too freely indulged in."

"IN THE PURSUIT of the correction of wrongdoing at all levels, I intend to proceed as I have always in a trade union manner, mindful that after two scandals in the recent past, IUE cannot sustain any new public scandal and must not be forced into that position again."

Lowenthal plans to fight for a closed probe at the union's International Executive board meeting opening June 27. He threatened to make some charges of his own and threw the word "corruption" at the national office.

The exchanges in these documents are jammed with charges and countercharges of stealth, human frailty and equal guilt.

All this, mind you, in a union which boasted of its revolutionary fervor in the early days of the marching masses of the CIO. Now, as in all such social revolts, the revolution has "cannibalized" its own.

And judging from the reports in the office of U.S. Attorney Dave Satz in Newark, the feast was costly.

Skittish Kosygin

By David Lawrence

Most people must have wondered why there should have been any hesitation on the part of Premier Kosygin to tell the public whether he would have a meeting with President Johnson.

But anyone who has followed the intricate processes of the Kremlin would know it was considered more important for Premier Kosygin to indicate almost up to the last minute of his visit that he was hostile to the United States and friendly to the Arabs than it was to reveal any plans for a conference with President Johnson.

Indeed, the buildup toward a meeting showed that officials of the American government were really taking the initiative and in effect beginning for some occasion, social or otherwise, at which the heads of the two governments could get together.

Premier Kosygin did not say a word about his plans when he first arrived in the United States, but there came successively from the White House and the Capitol intimations that it would be a good thing if the Soviet Premier could have a talk with President Johnson.

THE WHITE HOUSE press secretary, for instance, said Tuesday the President would be glad to meet with the Soviet Premier "for a social visit or substantive discussions."

But not a word of comment came from Mr. Kosygin. Then the Democratic leader in the Senate, Mike Mansfield of Montana, made a further bid when he issued a public statement which was a supplementary form of invitation. He said:

"It is my hope that it will be possible for Premier Kosygin to accept the invitations which have been extended to him by President Johnson for a joint meeting. The meeting, in my opinion, would be better held outside the United Nations, where the question of protocol would have to be considered in view of the fact that many other prime ministers of other countries would be in attendance."

The foregoing was a polite way of hinting that Mr. Johnson could not go to New York because he would then have to meet with top officials of other governments, so it would be necessary to have the meeting somewhere else. Sen. Mansfield continued:

"It is the usual procedure for a visitor to a country to meet with the chief of state in the capital of that country. I am positive that in view of the invitations extended, the President would be more than willing to meet with Mr. Kosygin, should he desire it, either in Washington or at a place outside of Washington such as Camp David or some other place along the eastern seaboard."

BUT PREMIER Kosygin was in a tough spot. He was operating under instructions given him before he left Moscow by his colleagues in the Kremlin that he must not appear too anxious to meet with President Johnson or even to show he had anything important to say. In official Washington, nevertheless, failure to announce he was going to see the President caused an arching of eyebrows.

The premier himself, caught between the Kremlin injunction and his own desire to appear courteous, in accord with diplomatic custom, remained silent.

When news came, however, that President Johnson had become a grandfather, this lifted the matter out of official protocol. It permitted Mr. Kosygin to comment freely, since there was no likelihood the Arabs would misunderstand such a human observation as his statement to reporters when he was leaving the Soviet mission on Wednesday en route to the United Nations: "I congratulate him (President Johnson) on being a grandfather."

Reporters continued their queries and asked the premier if he was going to meet with the President. He replied that "it is not clear yet."

HE ADDED that he would like to leave the United States that same day, but didn't think he could. Doubtless he was still waiting for the President to give him word that en route home he could stop by and see the President in Washington, then fly on to Moscow.

U.S. policy is to let the world know that the United States is ready to talk on the subject of peace anywhere and with anybody in a position of authority — friend or foe.

Premier Kosygin could have initiated

Guilford Lake, definitely not noted for any outstanding fishing, this week provided the surprise of the year—maybe even the past 30 years. It yielded a white crappie which set a new state record for Ohio.

The fish was landed Monday evening by Ronald J. Klein, 33, of Lisbon.

Guilford also had a few other surprises. Test nets turned up some nice bass, crappies and catfish, along with one big northern pike. Seining operations yielded bass fingerlings, indicating a good spawn this year and last.

Of course all this doesn't mean the lake is overrun with fish, but at least there are a few there.

Klein, a utility serviceman, landed his 3-pound, 3-ounce crappie on a spinning outfit. He was using a Mepps spinner. It measured 18 inches.

The previous record was 2-pound, 13-ounces caught four years ago in the Maumee River.

The proper forms are being prepared to have the fish officially recorded.

THE TEST NETS were placed in Guilford Monday, and the first check was made Tuesday. The nets were checked again Wednesday and then lifted Thursday.

The first check yielded numerous crappies 11 to 15 inches and many stunted crappies.

The nets also held a bass 20½ inches and another 15½ inches. This is unusual because bass are wary and ordinarily are not caught in nets.

The first check also showed numerous small bullhead catfish, suckers, a few carp and lots of shad, bluegills and sunfish.

Two northerns showed up later. One was 36 inches. This is a dandy fish in anyone's book. The other was 28 inches. Also caught were several channel cats of 20 inches or more.

WILDLIFE OFFICIALS, headed by Ed Bradley, fish management supervisor for District 3, decided to seine the shoreline of the lake Thursday.

Using a bag seine about 10 to 12 feet long the crew caught enough small bass fingerlings to indicate there had been a heavy bass spawn this spring and last year.

The officials apparently were satisfied with the results.

AS I SAID BEFORE, the record fish may be the surprise of the past 20 or 30 years. Oldtimers tell me that in the mid-30s, Guilford was a very good lake for bass.

Then, over a period of years, it seems to decline until it now has a bad reputation as a fishing lake.

It is fished heavily by bank fishermen, who catch tons of stunted bluegills and crappies. Once in a while someone will hook into a bass, but nothing to compare with what was caught a few years ago.

In recent years the state has stocked some northern pike and walleyes in Guilford. A few of these are caught once in a while. But, overall the fishing is not good.

Most fishermen are disgruntled over the thousands of shad and stunted bluegills, sunfish and crappies that inhabit the waters. Add to this the carp and bullheads that steal your bait and the situation is not one that is attractive.

IT HAS BEEN SAID, the lake is not really fished. True, at least in one sense of the word.

I lost interest in Guilford some time ago. When I fish, I at least want to feel that I have a chance of catching something. For this reason I am willing to travel to lakes that have much better reputations.

But, I have received numerous telephone calls and have been contacted personally by persons complaining that nothing

ed. Guilford has become more of a public recreational area than a fishing lake.

Money is spent to improve recreational facilities. If money is spent to improve fishing, it could be the other way around.

Fishermen who are truly interested might be better off directing their efforts to see that Highlandtown Lake is developed as a fishing lake and leave Guilford as is.

Money derived from hunting and fishing licenses is used to secure land and construct lakes. Therefore the fisherman and hunters should have something to say about how they want them developed.

Decide which area you would like to see developed and how you want it developed. Then make your suggestions known. Write the Division of Wildlife at 1500 Dublin Rd., Columbus. Write the state representative. Contact county officials. Every time you have an opportunity, speak out. Don't grumble and talk to others unless you jointly take action.

If you are satisfied with the situation, also make this known.

The reason I am saying this is because many people feel Columbiana County, stuck down in the corner of the state, is forgotten about many times. I don't believe this is entirely true, but if you want some answers, seek them out from the proper authorities.

As I have said before on these matters, it only takes a few minutes to write a letter or card. I am sure you will receive a reply.

A 24-INCH CATFISH was landed at Guilford Thursday afternoon by Kirk W. Schneider, 17, of 634 Avondale.

Kirk was casting a jointed minnow which the catfish hit. It weighed 6½ pounds, and was the only one he caught. It could well be that Guilford is coming back to life.

HIGHLANDTOWN LAKE has received another charge of fish. The state put in 85,000 largemouth bass fingerlings, 2 to 4 inches long this week.

The catfish all have been stocked. This leaves the muskies and bluegills to go. The lake will be opened for fishing next May.

In case you are interested, the fish will live on small daphnia, an organism in the water, until minnows multiply to provide food.

FISHING REPORTS from all parts of the state indicate it will only be a fair weekend. Nothing exceptional is expected.

Mosquito Reservoir is producing some nice white bass and largemouth bass. La Rue Lake near Akron has been yielding good sized largemouths this week. Mogadore has been poor.

THE STORY OF MY weekend fishing trip to Lake Erie could be summed up by saying "Bad Storm."

Because of various circumstances, I barely got to wet a line. Almost from the word go, everything went wrong. The white bass were running and this attracted hundreds of fishermen. The ferry boat to Middle Bass Island was crowded and operating behind schedule.

One of our outboard motors failed and a replacement had to be rented. Then came the wind and rain. The storm hit shortly after we arrived and in less than an hour all small craft were ordered off the lake.

The wind grew in velocity until the waves were 10 feet high. This is not my estimate, but that of the Coast Guard. To me they looked much larger.

There were five of us on the trip. We fished briefly—between rains—from a dock on the lee side of the island. We caught a few, but the temperature dropped and this, combined with the wet weather, made it very uncomfortable.

It was very depressing, to say the least. We couldn't leave the island until Sunday night because we did not have reservations on any earlier ferries.

The trip back across the rough lake is a story in itself. I was beginning to believe I have all the bad luck until I met another fisherman who told me his story. He was on his fourth weekend trip to the island and it had stormed two of the other times and on the other the fish were not biting. He had caught absolutely nothing.

A 45-POUND CATFISH was caught at Piedmont Lake over the weekend by a Moorefield fisherman. He was camping next to Robert Lewis and Tom Lanam of Wellsville.

Bob says he believes you could stick your head in the fish's mouth. The man was jug fishing when he hooked into the cat.

ing is being caught at Guilford. They all want to know why and what is wrong.

I started doing a little checking on my own. I am no fish management expert. I am not even a fishing expert.

As I said, the lake is not fished in one sense of the word. In the evening the lake is nearly devoid of any boats, except for a few persons who are pleasure riding. The banks are filled with fishermen on weekends.

It would seem that once in a while they would hook into a large fish. Bass normally feed close to the shore in the early morning or evening. Somewhere along the line one is bound to pick up a crayfish or nightcrawler being used by someone. At least enough to keep it interesting.

SOME PERSONS have suggested a new stocking program is in order, pointing out this is done by the state in other parts of Ohio.

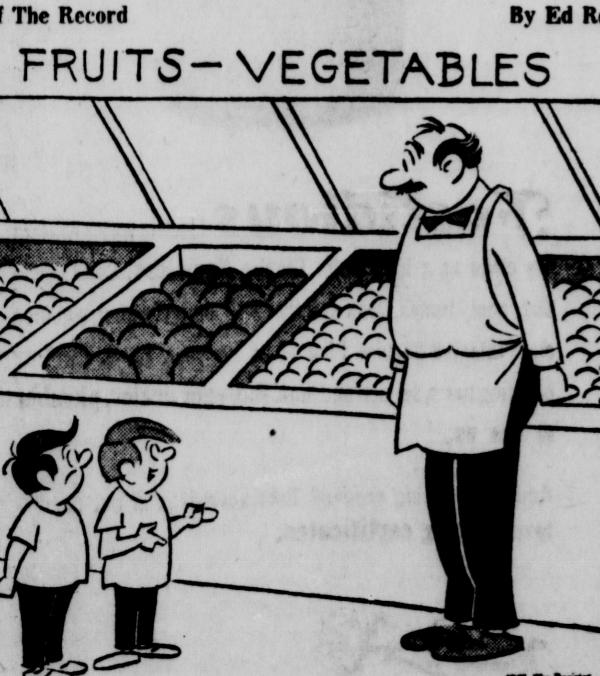

The best suggestion I have heard to date is the introduction of shovelnose catfish or blue catfish into the lake. These are a predator fish. They will eat shad by the tons as well as small, stunted panfish.

Remove these and the fishing probably would improve.

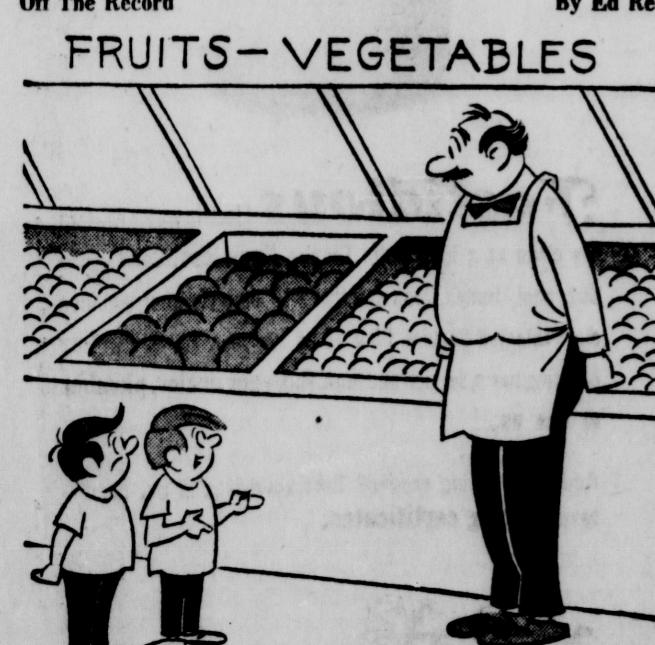

THERE COULD BE ANOTHER side to the coin not realized.

FLAME RETARDANTS

Clothing items of paper are not new, but they're getting more emphasis these days.

Paper disposables for industry, research, hospitals and the medical profession have been used for several years, points out Mrs. Ruth F. Funk, Extension home economics for Beaver County. One of the first disposable items was an overshoe to protect shoe soles from muck and mud and to prevent the spread of disease on mink and poultry farms.

Most paper fabrics used for clothing today are made of 93 per cent cellulose wadding and 7 per cent nylon, rayon or Dacron polyester fiber pressed between the cellulose layers. The fiber gives strength, durability and drapability to the fabric.

These paper fabrics, many in gay color prints, have a flame retardant finish which will char but not burn if touched with a lighted match.

However, this finish is removed in washing says Mrs. Funk.

These paper fabrics, many in gay color prints, have a flame retardant finish which will char but not burn if touched with a lighted match.

However, this finish is removed in washing says Mrs. Funk.

Garments of paper fabric are cut, sewed and pressed according to the traditional manufacturing process, but manufacturers are looking for methods to cut labor costs.

Among the paper fabric items available today are women's, girls' and children's dresses, aprons, swimwear and beachwear. Some mail-order summer catalogs list paper fabric items.

However, the events which have taken place during the past weeks in the Middle East have borne witness that God is alive, that His eye is on His children.

We read in the Bible, "The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth to show Himself strong in the behalf of those whose hearts are perfect toward Him."

GOD'S OMNISCIENT eye is searching for the one who will let the power of God be demonstrated in him. God's fatherhood is expressed as the troubles of the world.

Some people think He is merely a huge man with a big club ready to strike down anyone who does wrong. This is contrary to the teachings of the Scripture where we learn God is One who looks upon man's actions and wants to help him out of his difficulties. He wants to be a Father to man—not a slavemaster.

God's eye sees man's time

Tri-State Tour Tips

One of the most interesting great houses of the Midwest and among the 30 finest in the nation, Adena is a fully restored early 19th Century estate and a must on any tour of the Chillicothe area.

Ohio's first capitol (1803-10), Chillicothe has other historical attractions, including several fine homes and an excellent preservation of Indian culture dating back many centuries.

Adena was designed in 1806 for Thomas Worthington, one of Ohio's first two U.S. senators and later governor. It is now administered by the Ohio Historical Society.

In addition to the Mansion House, restored are the adjoining smoke and wash houses and the flower garden with many unusual varieties of pre-1830 roses and perennials.

Facing east, a new overlook provides a good view of Mt. Logan, which inspired the Great Seal of Ohio.

Adena, which in Hebrew means "given to places remarkable for the delightfulness of their situations," is open 9:30 to 4:30 daily except Monday. Admission is 50 cents; children 6-12, 10 cents.

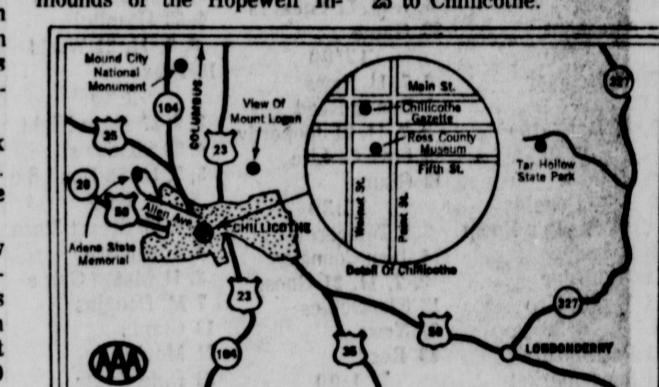

The Ross County Historical

Museum has four floors of exhibits. Included are Ohio's original Constitution Table, a Conestoga Wagon and rooms featuring crafts and art of the Moundbuilders and many 19th Century children's toys. Hours are 1-5 daily except Wednesday. Admission is 50 cents; children 25 cents.

Nearby is the Chillicothe Gazette, oldest continuous newspaper west of the Alleghenies. It is housed in a replica of Ohio's first capitol, and contains a printing museum open 8 to 5 weekdays, Saturday 8-1 p.m.

North on Route 104 is Mound City National Monument, a restoration of 24 burial mounds of the Hopewell Indians.

The Columbus County Motor Club suggests East Liverpool, Ohio Route 7 to Route 22-40 to Circleville, and Route 23 to Chillicothe.

Inspiration For Today

CAN GOD SEE?

The Rev. Verne Nola
Assistant pastor
Midland Christian Assembly

Many have been declaring that God is dead—have been making bold statements that God does not answer prayer, does not perform miracles, and does not care about the troubles of the world.

Was not Asa, King of Judah, surrounded by thousands of Ethiopians, yet, when he cried, "O Lord, help us," God saw his time of danger and gave him the victory. There are many more characters in the Bible like David, Daniel and even Paul who had their times of danger, but were delivered by a seeing God.

When Israel appeared doomed over a week ago by the large armies of Egypt, Syria and Jordan, God saw their time of danger and delivered them. It is wonderful to realize God is still watching His children and will deliver them from evil when they call, "O Lord, help us."

GOD'S OMNISCIENT eye is searching for the one who will let the power of God be demonstrated in him. God's fatherhood is expressed as the troubles of the world.

Some people think He is merely a huge man with a big club ready to strike down anyone who does wrong. This is contrary to the teachings of the Scripture where we learn of danger. When Israel was fleeing from Egyptian bondage, the Lord saw their time of danger and opened the Red Sea and permitted over two million of them to escape by passing over a dry path through the sea.

God is One who looks upon man's actions and wants to help him out of his difficulties. He wants to be a Father to man—not a slavemaster.

Was not Asa, King of Judah, surrounded by thousands of Ethiopians, yet, when he cried, "O Lord, help us," God saw his time of danger and gave him the victory. There are many more characters in the Bible like David, Daniel and even Paul who had their times of danger, but were delivered by a seeing God.

Do it today! And the Scripture declares, "He that endures to the end shall be saved."

HAVE WE THOSE perfect hearts to whom this Divine help is promised? If God's help depended on our sinlessness, He would never be able to help anyone out. Job and Noah, both termed "perfect" in the Scriptures, each experienced weakness and failings.

The trip back across the rough lake is a story in itself.

I was beginning to believe I have all the bad luck until I met another fisherman who told me his story. He was on his fourth weekend trip to the island and it had stormed two of the other times and on the other the fish were not biting. He had caught absolutely nothing.

A 45-POUND CATFISH was caught at Piedmont Lake over the weekend by a Moorefield fisherman. He was camping next to Robert Lewis and Tom Lanam of Wellsville.

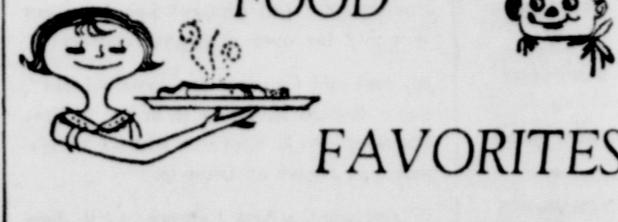

Bob says he believes you could stick your head in the fish's mouth. The man was jug fishing when he hooked into the cat.

THERE COULD BE ANOTHER side to the coin not realized.

FAVORITES

Colorful canapes are a simple send-off for the simplest of parties, and the wise hostess has learned to have an assortment and also a plentiful supply. Here are a few ideas for canapes which are comparatively easy to make, sent in by Mrs. George Davis of Smiths Ferry, R.D. 1.

Shrimp Surprise

Dip cooked shrimp in catsup and place on rounds of toast spread with mayonnaise and buttered. Sprinkle with lemon juice and paprika.

Stuffed Eggs

Cut hard-boiled eggs into halves, remove and mash the egg yolks. Add to the yolks some chopped ham, tongue, anchovies or sardines. Mix in a bit of mayonnaise and lemon juice. Roughly refill the white cases and top them with pickle relish.

Cheese-Bacon Squares

Place thinly cut cheese slices on two inch squares of bread. Spread with mustard and minced onion. Top with bacon squares. Bake about 10 minutes or until sufficiently browned. Serve while hot.

FLAME RETARDANTS

Clothing items of paper are not new, but they're getting more emphasis these days.

Paper disposables for industry, research, hospitals and the medical profession have been used for several years, points out Mrs. Ruth F. Funk, Extension home economics for Beaver County. One of the first disposable items was an overshoe to protect shoes from muck and mud and to prevent the spread of disease on mink and poultry farms.

Most paper fabrics used for clothing today are made of 93 per cent cellulose wadding and 7 per cent nylon, rayon or Dacron polyester fiber pressed between the cellulose layers.

The fiber gives strength, durability and drapeability to the fabric.

These paper fabrics, many in gay color prints, have a flame retardant finish which will char but not burn if touched with a lighted match.

However, this finish is removed in washing says Mrs. Funk.

Garments of paper fabric are cut, sewed and pressed according to the traditional manufacturing process, but manufacturers are looking for methods to cut labor costs.

Among the paper fabric items available today are women's, girls' and children's dresses, aprons, swimwear and beachwear. Some mail-order summer catalogs list paper fabric items.

We read in the Bible, "The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth to show Himself strong in the behalf of those whose hearts are perfect toward Him."

God is still watching His children and will deliver them from evil when they call, "O Lord, help us."

Some people think He is merely a huge man with a big club ready to strike down anyone who does wrong. This is contrary to the teachings of the Scripture where we learn God is One who looks upon man's actions and wants to help him out of his difficulties. He wants to be a Father to man—not a slavemaster.

Tri-State Tour Tips

One of the most interesting exhibits is the original Constitution Table, a Conestoga Wagon and rooms featuring crafts and art of the Moundbuilders and many 19th Century children's toys. Hours are 1-5 daily except Wednesday. Admission is 50 cents; children 25 cents.

Nearby is the Chillicothe Gazette, oldest continuous newspaper west of the Alleghenies. It is housed in a replica of Ohio's first capitol, and contains a printing museum open 8 to 5 weekdays, Saturday 8-1 p.m.

North on Route 104 is Mound City National Monument, a restoration of 24 burial mounds of the pre-1830 roses and perennials.

Facing east, a new overlook provides a good view of Mt. Logan, which inspired the Great Seal of Ohio.

Adena, which in Hebrew means "given to places remarkable for the delightfulness of their situations," is open 9:30 to 4:30 daily except Monday. Admission is 50 cents; children 12-10 cents.

The Ross County Historical

Museum has four floors of exhibits. Included are Ohio's and among the 30 finest in the nation. Adena is a fully restored early 19th Century estate and a must on any tour of the Chillicothe area.

Ohio's first capitol (1803-10), Chillicothe has other historical attractions, including several fine homes and an excellent preservation of Indian culture dating back many centuries.

Adena was designed in 1806 for Thomas Worthington, one of Ohio's first two U.S. senators and later governor. It is now administered by the Ohio Historical Society.

In addition to the Mansion House, restored are the adjoining smoke and wash houses and the flower garden with many unusual varieties of pre-1830 roses and perennials.

Oldest Enlisted Man Observes 74th Year

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The oldest enlisted man in the Air Force celebrated his 74th birthday today.

M. Sgt. Stewart G. Hicks, who retires July 17, served under U.S. and Canadian flags in three wars.

Hicks, a construction inspector, was given a birthday party Friday by his mates of the 60th Engineering Squadron.

During the cake-and-coffee affair, Hicks said to a fellow airman, "They say old soldiers never die, but they have to be put out to pasture eventually."

Fires Another 66 Yates Leading By 2

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — Armed with a new set of clubs and wielding a precision putter, modest Wayne Yates has a lot going for him.

The 25-year-old Georgian carried a two-stroke lead into today's third round of the $103,500 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament, with veterans Gardner Dickinson and Arnold Palmer in hot pursuit.

Yates, who admitted Friday after shooting his second straight 66 that "the pressure is pretty good," was likely to feel it a little more today.

He was to play in the same threesome with Palmer, the game's all-time leading money-winner.

Arnie, had said he didn't know the pro from Atlanta after Yates led the first round.

The rangy Yates had a 36-hole total of 132, two strokes better than Gardner Dickinson and three ahead of Palmer, who fired a 68 Friday.

"I don't know what I'm doing," Yates said after his four-under-par round. "Everything I hit just went to the hole."

The son of a golf pro, Yates has earned only $3,701 in this, his second year on the tour.

His iron game Friday was erratic but an accurate putter proved the difference. Two of his five birdies came on putts of 15 and 25 feet. He needed only 26 putts in his sizzling round.

Ryun Lowers Mile Mark To 3:51.1 In AAU Meet

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Amazing Jim Ryun, without collaborators, wrote another lustrous chapter in his continuing series of world mile records with a 3:51.1 in the National AAU Track and Field Championships.

Ryun, the lean but powerful Kansan, had to set his own pace Friday night and did so in an exemplary fashion. But it was the 20-year-old running star's blistering 53.5 on the final lap that enabled Ryun to break the 3:51.1 he ran last July in Berkeley, Calif.

Pole vaulter Paul Wilson clinched the two-day competition at Memorial Stadium with another world record—17 feet, 8 inches. The Southern California sophomore wiped out the mark of 17-7 established by teammate

Bob Seagren just two weeks ago.

But the modest, smiling Ryun captured the sentiments of the 11,600 fans who thrilled to his solo virtuosity.

"I wanted the pack to go a little faster in the first lap," said Ryun. "When it lagged a little, I decided to go out on the pace by myself. I knew it would be harder, but it was the only way."

"When I heard the timers say 1:59 at the first half, I didn't think I would get the record." Ryun added but he turned in a 56.6 third quarter, then sprinted away from the field, bringing the screaming crowd to its feet with his classic finish.

Ryun's quarter-mile splits were 59.2, 59.8, 58.6 and 53.5, compared with 57.7, 57.7, 59.6 and 56.3 in his 3:51.3 last year.

Incredibly, the next six finishers also broke the once-formidable 4-minute mark.

Jim Grellie of the Multnomah Track Club was second in 3:56.1; Dave Wilson of Oregon, 3:56.2; Tom Von Ruden of Long Beach, Calif., 40ers track club, 3:56.3; Roscoe Divine of Oregon, 3:57.2; Sam Bair of Kent State, 3:58.7, and high school sensation Martin Liquori of Essex, N.J., 3:58.8.

Grellie, a 30-year-old veteran of 19 sub-4-minute miles, said admiringly of Ryun: "He's the only runner today who can go out and set his own pace like that."

Wilson, who still holds the national prep record of 16:84, set in 1965, was understandably pleased about orbiting into national prominence. But the Downey, Calif., youngster was as realistic about his mark as pole vaulters must be in this space age.

"The 17-8? It could fall in the next week," Wilson reasoned after missing by inches on two of his three unsuccessful attempts at 18-4.

First National, Pusateri Nine, Rogers Victors

First National nipped Potters Savings, 11-10, while Roger's Drive - In scored a 15-10 verdict over Potters Bank and Pusateri's was a 14-6 winner over M & A Motors in Minor League Friday.

Carr came up with the game winning hit in the last of the fifth to break a 10-10 tie and give First National the nod.

Carr also had a double while O'Rourke stroked two hits for the losers. Logan was the winning pitcher.

Jerry Lockhart with three doubles and Mike Gill with three singles pace an 18-hit Rogers attack.

Jay Santelli was the winning pitcher. Kevin Snowden led all hitters as he showed a triple, double and two singles for the losers. Shawn Sloan homered and doubled for Potters Bank.

K. Montgomery, the winning hurler for Pusateri's struck out 10 batters and led his team at the plate with a double and single. Kitteridge and Piatt had two hits each for M & A.

KANSAS STAR Jim Ryun crosses the finish line in the world record time of 3:51.1 in the mile at the AAU track and field championships Friday night at Bakersfield, Calif. Seven of the eight runners in the mile event finished under four minutes. (UPI Telephoto)

Salem Gains 2-1 Win Over Legion

Post 374 dropped its second game in two days, another one-run decision this time to Salem, 2-1, Friday at Colt Field.

Salem opened the first inning by scoring two unearned runs as Mike Caruso went on to pitch solid baseball the rest of the way giving up five hits for the East Liverpool nine.

Post 374 came back with a run in the third inning when Emery Brewer continued his timely hitting with a double that scored Rex Campbell who had reached base on a fielders choice.

Post 374 had the bases loaded in the fourth inning but could not get a run home.

Jack Myler is scheduled to pitch Sunday at Weirton.

Salem holds first place in the Legion League with a 7-1 record.

Dairymen, Parsons, Medics Score Little League Wins

Golden Star, Parsons Co and the Medics finished on top in a 10-1 victory over Burbick's. Mark McGeehan was the winning pitcher and limited Burbick's to only three hits. R. Jones had two safeties for the losers.

Chema was the winning pitcher when the Medics defeated Chester Legion, 10-4. Williams had three hits with Hocing and Hayes getting two each.

Killebrew's 22nd Provides Run

Chance Wins Tenth, 1-0, On 3-Hitter Over Chisox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cal Ermer, feeling the pinch of the pitching shorts, got a welcome shot in the arm from Dean Chance, who benefited from a similar shot by Harmon Killebrew.

Chance pitched a brilliant three-hitter and Killebrew provided the game's only run with his 22nd homer of the year as the Minnesota Twins nipped Chicago 1-0 Friday night.

It was a change of pace for Ermer, the twins' new manager. In 15 previous games, his staff had managed just three complete games and had allowed four or more runs 10 times.

Chance's effort was the top individual pitching job in the American League where California blanked Kansas City 2-0. New York dropped Detroit 3-1. Washington nipped Baltimore 3-2 and Boston battered Cleveland 3-2.

In the National League, Atlanta ripped New York 12-4, Chicago edged Houston 9-8, Pittsburgh topped Cincinnati 4-2. St. Louis dropped Philadelphia 3-2 and San Francisco battered Los Angeles 7-1.

Ermer and Twins' President Cal Griffith buddied before the game and discussed the possibility of promoting some pitching help from Denver of the Pacific Coast League. But the idea was rejected.

Chance then made the talk academic by outdueling Joe Horlen, who lost his first game after eight victories.

The victory ended a three-game losing string for Chance and made him the American League's first 10-game winner at 10-5. He was knocked out four straight times before Friday.

Killebrew's 375-foot shot in the seventh inning gave the muscular veteran the major league home run lead over Baltimore's Frank Robinson, who has 21.

Until he connected, the Twins had not moved a man past first base against Horlen and had left only one man on base as the White Sox choked off a pair of rallies with double plays.

Rickey Clark and Minnie Rojas teamed up for California's three-hitter over Kansas City. Rojas bailed Clark out of an eighth inning jam and then drove in an insurance run with a ninth inning single. Jim Fregosi had driven in the game's first run against loser Jim (Catfish) Hunter with a single in the eighth after Jay Johnstone's double.

Al Downing pitched a six-hitter for the Yankees and belted one of three solo homers that accounted for all of New York's runs against Detroit's Denny McLain.

Steve Whitaker and Tom Tresh had the other Yankee homers as McLain's total for the season ballooned to 22. He allowed 42 last year, the most in Tiger history.

Paul Casanova ripped a three-run homer off Steve Barber, giving the Senators all their runs against the Orioles. Casanova's shot followed singles by Frank Howard and Cap Peterson after Barber had retired the first 11 Senators in order. Those were the only hits off Barber, who worked five innings.

Baltimore knocked out winner Phil Ortega in the eighth inning but Dave Baldwin and Darold Knowles choked off the late rally.

Joe Foy hammered two triples and two singles as the Red Sox clawed the Indians. Foy scored three runs and drove in another in the 13-hit Boston attack against four Cleveland pitchers.

Tony Conigliaro drove in two runs with a homer and a single and Carl Yastrzemski also stroked a pair of hits. Lee Stange went the distance for the victory, losing his shutout in the last two innings after the Red Sox had run up an 8-0 lead.

The Pirates broke loose in the ninth inning at Cincinnati after Jim Coker's eighth inning hom- er gave the Reds a 2-1 edge.

Pinch hitter Maury Wills delivered the tying run with a single and reliever Bob Lee wild-pitched another across before Jose Pagan's sacrifice fly capped the rally.

Gene Alley homered for the Pirates, who handed the Reds their fifth loss in six games.

Mack Jones drove in three runs with two singles and a double and Felipe Alou had three hits and scored two runs as the Braves buried the Mets under a 13-hit barrage.

Winner Ken Johnson gave up four hits each with Fox and Duke Reed hitting home runs.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Armed with a new set of clubs and wielding a precision putter, modest Wayne Yates has a lot going for him.

The 25-year-old Georgian carried a two-stroke lead into today's third round of the $103,500 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament, with veterans Gardner Dickinson and Arnold Palmer in hot pursuit.

St. Louis Scores 6th Straight Win

By DICK COUCH

Roger Maris figures you don't need much pull to go places . . . from 10th to first, for example . . . in a hurry. All it takes is a little extra push.

Maris socked an eighth inning homer that lifted St. Louis' streaking Cardinals past Philadelphia 3-2 Friday night and stretched their National League lead to three games.

The Cardinals struggled to their sixth straight victory on the strength of Maris' tie-breaking shot and the four-hit pitching of rookie Dick Hughes after arriving in St. Louis at 5 a.m. on a flight from the West Coast, where they'd completed a 10-game road trip.

"These are the kind of days when you've got to push yourself, when everybody's got to work harder," Maris said, explaining that most of his teammates had gotten little or no sleep before taking on the Phils.

"It's nice to be in first place," added the slugging outfielder, who finished 10th in the American League with the New York Yankees last season. "I'm certainly glad I'm on a team capable of being in first place."

McCormick, who yielded a bases-empty homer by Jim LeFebvre, boosted his pitching record to 7-3 while loser Don Sutton slipped to 4-9.

Lee Thomas' pinch hit single in the ninth drove in the winning run for the Cubs, who tied the score at 8-8 with a two-run rally in the eighth. Billy Williams and Ernie Banks each hit his 12th homer for Chicago while Houston's Jim Wynn walloped No. 18. Rusty Staub, Jim Landis and Julie Gotay also connected for the Astros.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Joe Foy, Red Sox, lashed three triples and two singles, scored three runs and drove in a fourth in Boston's 8-4 victory over Cleveland.

PITCHING — Dean Chance, Twins, scattered three hits for his 10th victory—tops in the American League as Minnesota nipped the Chicago White Sox 1-0.

California And Texas Net Stars Will Clash

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — California's Pixie Lamm and Texas' Patsy Rippy meet today in the finals of the Women's National Collegiate Tennis Championships.

The UCLA lass, seeded third, whipped Julie Anthony, No. 2, in a 1-6, 6-1, 6-2 contest in the Friday semifinals. Favored Miss Rippy, of Odessa Junior College, defeated Janie Albert, No. 4, 6-3, 6-3. Both losers are from Stanford.

Mets, Pirates Win

The Selineville Mets defeated the Hammondville Yankees 10-1 while the Irondequoit Pirates were winning 14-4 over the Selineville Chiefs in Friday's HHS League games. Myron Jones was the winning pitcher for the Mets and Craig Beadell gained the victory for the Pirates and also connected for a home run.

Pension Plan Set

TORONTO (AP) — Canadian Football League players Friday voted to accept a pension plan proposal which should be in operation this year. The 17-point proposal, earlier approved by the league's nine clubs, calls for each team to pay $300,000, to be matched by the players, into the fund each year.

The "most thunderous spot" in the world is the island of Java, which has no fewer than 223 rainstorms a year.

Ohio Committee 'Cool'

Execution Ban Hopes Dim

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio — A ban on the death penalty in Ohio appears dead in its tracks here.

Notable among those trying to breathe life into abolition during three recent hearings in the Ohio House Judiciary Committee were House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, State Rep. Carl B. Stokes, an ex-law officer, and Lawrence Herman, liberal-leaning law professor from Ohio State University.

But they doubtless were wasting their breath — at least for now. Kurfess even conceded he sees no ground swell for his cause.

Committee Cool

To a certainty, he could have added, the Judiciary Committee isn't carrying the abolition banner.

Last week one committee member said he was unaware of any member enthusiastic about moving the abolition bill onto the House floor.

Action of past committees offers no clue. Only two lawmakers are holdovers from the Judiciary Committee two years ago which voted 12-9 to send to the floor a resolution to put the question on the ballot.

The House then rejected the proposal 68-61, with 80 votes needed for passage.

And those who can make the comparison suggest that if the 1966 General Assembly's Judiciary Committee were of a more liberal mind than the over-all membership, the 1967's committee, lawyers all, might be a step to the right of their colleagues in the area of criminology.

'Stop and Search'

Their reasoning is based in part on the present committee's recommendation three months ago of a "stop and search" bill to strengthen the hand of the police.

Stokes Difters

Stokes took a different avenue of logic here, declaring that if innocence could have been proved, the person hardly would have been executed in the first place.

Proponents insisting application of the death penalty is discriminatory pointed out that of 405 executions in the U.S. in this century, 53 per cent have been poor Negroes from the South.

More than one committee member retorted, "But we're talking about Ohio, aren't we?"

And so go the time-worn arguments and rebuttals.

Committee Chairman Robert E. Levitt, Republican from Canton, put his finger on a central point:

"This is a gut issue. These arguments don't change anybody's mind."

Bill's Hopes Look Dim

If Levitt is correct — and he's gone the route in the Judiciary three times — the abolition bill is going nowhere.

In the Senate, a proposal by Sen. Oliver Ocasiek, D-Northfield, to put the proposition to the people is sidetracked in the Judiciary Committee.

Ocasiek maintains that if Ohioans voted by only a few thousand votes 55 years ago to keep the death penalty, today's public would abolish it were it to make the ballot.

One of his colleagues expressed an off-hand sentiment on the question — that as a practical matter capital punishment is on its way out in Ohio and around the country and the General Assembly has more pressing matters with which to concern itself.

The electric chair hasn't been used in Ohio in more than four years. Nationwide, only one person was executed last year and two this year.

On these notes another round on capital punishment is fading in the General Assembly.

A Couple Of Grandfathers

Luci's Baby Helps Serve As Meeting Ice-Breaker

HAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The first meeting of President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, even though it produced no agreement, was a homey confrontation-friendly, relaxed and free of cold war propaganda phrases.

Kosygin went to the summit talks Friday at Glassboro, N.J., fully intending to leave at 2:30 p.m. However, his intimate conversations with Johnson proceeded so smoothly that he tarried more than two hours longer, and even suggested further talks Sunday.

Neither Johnson nor Kosygin made any concession on major points of friction between the world's two most powerful nations. But as Johnson put it in a speech in Los Angeles later that day, "I think we understand each other better."

The big ice-breaker at what could have been a sticky meeting was the infant son of Luci Johnson Nugent, born Wednesday. Just about the first thing Kosygin did was boast to Johnson that he had seniority as a grandfather—18 years of seniority in fact.

This common bond of grandfathership was a recurring note throughout the five-plus hours the two men spent together.

At one point, for example, Johnson told Kosygin in so many words, "You don't want my grandson fighting you and I don't want you shooting at him."

At least half of their prelunch conversation focused on a sometimes folksy discussion of the kind of world they seek for their grandchildren.

While they disagreed on many specifics of current policy, they were agreed on broad goals.

To add good feeling to what may come to be known as the grandfather summit, Kosygin brought along a Russian-made gold baby cup for Patrick Lynch Nugent.

So all-pervasive was this grandfather link that, when it came time for lunch, Kosygin announced he was a tough grandfather and could work all day without pausing to eat. Johnson had brought in some fancy. While House prepared vittles for his guest and, exercising his prerogative as host, led the way to the dining table.

The setting for the summit—a 19th Century brownstone country house—apparently contributed to the general air of geniality. Kosygin was taken with the rather musty decor and such ordinary furnishings as rocking chairs. He thought he was in a charming farmhouse.

Johnson was careful to avoid the hyperbole he sometimes employed. He made a point of telling Kosygin that the residence, the home of a college president, was perhaps bit fancier than most American farmhouses.

On the substantive side, Johnson and Kosygin ranged over virtually all the problem areas of the world—each making notes and drawing crude sketches as they talked.

Prospects for a nuclear non-proliferation treaty were canvassed in detail. While any final agreement on that would have to await concurrence by other nations, there was a feeling, at least on the U.S. side, that Johnson and Kosygin made real headway on the topic.

There was a lot of talk too about disarmament—in antiballistic missiles and in offensive weapons.

Johnson, in seeking to emphasize that agreements on knotty subjects were possible, cited some items to Kosygin on which the United States and the Soviet Union have agreed since both came to office. These included pacts involving cultural exchanges, civil aviation, the banning of nuclear weapons in outer space and the consular agreement.

Johnson went into some detail to emphasize to Kosygin the personal effort—sometimes called arm twisting by his critics—that he put into gaining the recent Senate ratification of the consular treaty.

Throughout the hours of the talks, neither Johnson nor Kosygin indulged in vituperation or animosity or condescension. Each took a firm position, however, making his points plainly and conversationally but without bluntness. Both men, it seemed, approached the summit with a determination to get along with each other, at least as individuals.

The President and premier had kept in mind a meeting of this sort for some time. However, pressures on each delayed final agreements on arrangements until Thursday.

That the first meeting was successful seemed indicated by the fact that they agreed, during the afternoon, to make a joint appearance before reporters and photographers.

Johnson and his aides drafted a statement which represented his conception of the outcome of Friday's meeting. He went over it carefully with Kosygin, who not only agreed with it, but said he would make his own statement to back up the President's words.

Among his fishing techniques, Woods employs a vegetable material that drugs and immobilizes the fish so that they come out of their hiding places among rocky reefs.

An expert deep-sea diver, Woods goes down 30 to 100 feet to bring fish back aboard ship.

Blushing is caused by the dilation of the blood vessels in one's face, due to excitement or nervousness. The blood vessels expand and the blood rushes in to fill them.

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, June 24, the 175th day of 1967. There are 190 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1520, the Spanish conqueror Hernando Cortez entered Mexico City.

On this date: In 1795, the U.S. Senate ratified the John Jay Treaty settling differences with England. A banner was dragged in the censed Washington of bad faith.

In 1793, the first republican constitution in France was adopted.

In 1940, the French government of Marshal Petain signed a World War II armistice with Italy.

In 1942, the exiled royal family of the Netherlands arrived in the United States to establish temporary residence.

In 1945, Adolf Hitler's personal al banner was dragged in the censed Washington of bad faith.

26 Complete School Bus Driver Class

LISBON — Certificates were awarded Friday to 26 Columbiana County women for completing a 20-hour course on school bus driving.

The course was made available by the Trade and Industrial Vocational Education Service of the State Department of Education in cooperation with all the schools in the county.

The instructor, Zygmunt E. Rataczak, commanded the class for interest and efforts toward improving the safety and efficiency of the local school transportation program.

He pointed out many schools are requesting this service and the interest in bus driver training is growing throughout the state.

The women eligible to receive certificates were Dorothy Abel, Evelyn Bailey, Ruth Beigle, Mary Bell, Barbara Boyd, Bonnie Costanzo, Jane Davis, Alice Ford.

Lucille Grubbs, Leetha Guy, Audrey Harrold, Elinor Hays, Anna Knight, Carole Koffel, Ruth Landsberger, Blanche Lanterman, Mildred Lewis, Charlotte McLaughlin, Shirley McLaughlin, Bettie Mead, Helen Petrick, Eunice Seidner, Shirley Shepard, Florence Spack, Rachel Thompson, and Dorothy Williams.

Before being qualified as bus driver, all of these women must pass a medical exam, the State Highway Patrol written exam for the School Bus Driver, and the Driving Skill Test. They will be issued a Chauffeur's License stamped as a school bus operator.

Newell Clinic Set Tuesday

The Newell pre-school clinic will be held Tuesday in the city building from 10 a.m. until noon, according to the Hancock County Health Department. Officials said this was a change from the regular monthly schedule.

During the clinic Tuesday, immunization for whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, smallpox, polio and measles will be given.

Permit To Be Suspended

Vernon R. Rose, proprietor of a tavern on former Route 7 in California Hollow, has been found delinquent in payment of his sales tax assessment and will have his permit suspended, the Department of Liquor Control has announced at Columbus. The D-5 permit, a night club license, will be suspended as of noon, July 16. The suspension will continue until the assessment is paid in full.

Bicycle Reported Stolen

Gilbert Piergallini of 721 Edwards St., reported to police someone stole his son's bicycle between 5 and 6 p.m. Friday. He said a padlock was attached to the rear wheel.

26 Complete School Bus Driver Class

LISBON — Certificates were awarded Friday to 26 Columbiana County women for completing a 20-hour course on school bus driving.

The course was made available by the Trade and Industrial Vocational Education Service of the State Department of Education in cooperation with all the schools in the county.

The instructor, Zygmunt E. Rataczak, commanded the class for interest and efforts toward improving the safety and efficiency of the local school transportation program.

He pointed out many schools are requesting this service and the interest in bus driver training is growing throughout the state.

The women eligible to receive certificates were Dorothy Abel, Evelyn Bailey, Ruth Beight, Mary Bell, Barbara Boyd, Bonnie Costanzo, Jane Davis, Alice Ford.

Lucille Grubbs, Leetha Guy, Audrey Harrold, Elinor Hays, Anna Knight, Carole Koffel, Ruth Landsberger, Blanche Lanterman, Mildred Lewis, Charlotte McLaughlin.

Shirley McLaughlin, Bettie Mead, Helen Petrick, Eunice Seidner, Shirley Shepard, Florence Spack, Rachel Thompson, and Dorothy Williams.

Before being qualified as bus driver, all of these women must pass a medical exam, the State Highway Patrol written exam for the School Bus Driver, and the Driving Skill Test. They will be issued a Chauffeur's License stamped as a school bus operator.

Probe Continues In Safecracking

Bureau of Criminal Investigation experts were able to come up with little evidence as they combed the Super Foods Market of 415 Main St., Wellsville, the target of a safecracking.

According to reports, the thieves used gloves while in the store, leaving useless "clothes patterns" on the areas they touched.

An inventory of stolen merchandise showed that two radios, one camera, one tape recorder, eight guns, one television set, two pairs of binoculars and three walkie-talkies had been taken from the Western Auto division of the store along with money from two cashdrawers and a register. This is in addition to the undetermined amount of loot stolen from the Super Foods safe.

Yesterday, owner Dean Hudson and Capt. Pete Trainer of the Wellsville Police Department poured over mug shots supplied by area law enforcement agencies to determine if the safecrackers had recently frequented the store.

No point of entry has yet been discovered, supporting the theory that someone had remained inside the building after it closed Thursday night.

Hudson said trade in the stores Thursday had been "fairly busy."

Odd Facts

Although most people think of salt chiefly as a seasoning for food, actually less than five of every 100 pounds of salt produced in the world is used in this way. It has been estimated that there are more than 14,000 uses for salt — in chemistry, hide and leather processing, glass, soap, and washing-powder manufacture, water-softening, refrigeration, road building, metal refining, and many, many others.

Katz Property In Wellsville Purchased By Heaton Firm

The property of the Katz Iron and Metal Works at 114 Lisbon St., Wellsville, has been purchased by Heaton's Wholesale Tire Co.

Paul Katz plans to reopen the business in the fall at the site of the former Rosenberger Dairy. The iron and metal works has been operated by the Katz family for two generations.

For the present, James Heaton and his brother Donald will use the block building as a warehouse and will tear down the fence and remainder of the old buildings.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Heaton Sr., who have been residing over the tire shop at 323 Wells Ave., have moved into the former Katz home.

The Heaton brothers purchased the Katz property, with a look to the future since they expect to lose their present location under the proposed highway relocation. They will continue to operate their tire shop at the present location.

The late Solomon Katz, grandfather of Paul Katz, founded the business in 1913 at the site of what is now the Stevenson Foundry. In the early 1930's

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Unlike many other large cities, London does not want to grow in either population or area. The London government has made a conscious effort to restrict new industries from moving to the city and actually has succeeded in relocating over 200 firms outside Greater London.

Swapping Now Way Of Life For Museums

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Swapping, a custom of antiquity, is not limited today to Indian traders, horse owners or small boys with marbles.

It is a way of life for museums, especially for those with items unsuitable for their general collections. These same items represent "gold mines" for other exhibitors eager to supplement their desired collection.

A large primitive art piece from Easter Island, a gift to the University of New Mexico, was occupying space in the Anthropology Museum. It wasn't suitable.

But it was just what the University of Miami Art Gallery needed as an entrance-way piece for its extensive collection of primitive art.

In exchange, UNM received several Indian baskets, an African chief's 18th century wrought iron standard, bits of ancient Peruvian textiles and some spears.
